That crow seen flying northward Sunday will have to eat it for a time longer.

If gasoline can be produced from shale, let us get busy and show up the oil combine.

Of what use is it to revive the talk of Allen M. Fletcher for United States senator? He has no more chance than a snowball in August.

Verdun has stood the most determined assault for just a month. It is doubtful if Germany can produce any worse punch than that already directed against the great chain of forts defending the road to Paris.

Snowdrifts stopped the fire department apparatus at Quincy, Mass., last Friday night—even the horse-drawn apparatus till the firemen manned the wheels and boosted along. No satisfactory combination has been devised which will beat the snow once the snow gets to a certain depth; and firemen and property owners alike breathe easier when the roads get settled to a passable degree. However, there always is a solution of the perplexity of the greatest drifts, and that is to load the hose into a pung and vault the drifts to the scene of the fire. Every fire department would find it advantageous to have such a rig available for an emergency.

If, as they profess, the proponents of the two measures now before Congress for the strengthening of the United States army defenses differ only in the courses to be pursued, let them compromise and put through a bill which would embody features in each act. There seems to be no doubt whatever that Congress is practically of one mind in thinking that the United States is miserably prepared, even for peace. Such being the case, it ought not to be possible for selfish differences to destroy needed legislation, nor even to postpone the time when the strengthening of the army can be started. If they be real patriots, let them drop their party differences and their selfish ideas. The country really needs strengthening and needs it now.

BARRE'S PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN.

It is an ambitious campaign of publicity on which the Barre Quarries' and Manufacturers' association has started with a view to bringing the merits of Barre granite more thoroughly to the attention of the public—ambitious in the initial cost to the promoters and ambitious in the breadth of the field to be covered. But it is felt that the results will be well worth the cost and that the influence of the campaign will be felt over a long period of years. Already Barre granite has a very strong standing in the artistic memorial field, and the products of the Barre quarries are to be found from one corner of the continent to the other, each memorial built of matchless stone and executed with the highest skill in the granite cutters' and carvers' occupation. Yet Barre is not satisfied; Barre is not content to let the business come alone by means of the slower processes of publicity, such as that obtained by the individual visit to a cemetery for inspection of stock and designs. Barre wants faster results. Therefore, the present campaign inaugurated by the men and firms that are interested in the great industry. The name and fame of our granite will be found to receive a great impetus therefrom.

A FEW OF THE AMERICAN SCENIC ATTRACTIONS.

For years the people of the United States have been crossing the oceans in an effort to find scenery, natural beauties and the entertainment that comes therefrom. They have, individually, spent months each year in a search after something novel; and they have, collectively, spent millions of dollars every year in that same investigation. All the time there were grand natural beauties at their very door, so to speak, and there was no need of crossing the oceans. We refer more particularly to the national parks of the United States, although the

TIRED ALL THE TIME

It is good to feel tired sometimes, when you have exercised sufficiently to cause a healthy feeling of fatigue.

But, you should be refreshed by rest. A tired feeling that does not disappear even after a night's sleep is abnormal. It means that you are anemic or debilitated, that you need a tonic to build up your system and fortify your system against such a condition. If you do not you are inviting disease because thin blood means that the body's defense against the inroads of disease is lowered.

Thin blood is largely the sufferer's own fault. It results from neglect, because the blood can be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the elements that the blood needs to make it rich and red, and to enable it to carry more oxygen. Building up the red portion of the blood is simple but because thin blood does not call attention to itself it is often neglected. Have you seriously considered taking a course of treatment with these blood-making pills? If you are in doubt write for information.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50 by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write now for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood."

The march of events has not found us unprepared.

We had a wireless last fall and acted on the hint, so that we ordered our ammunition in time—no shortage here.

Full stocks and a big variety in the attractive patterns in spring light-weight overcoats.

$15 with us still buys quality and style.

We advise early buying in all lines. Good merchandise is going to be scarce and is higher in price. We can assure you same prices as before on nearly all lines, as we bought more goods for this coming spring and fall than ever before.

We can say to our trade that you may depend on us, as ever, for the square deal, and will stand back of everything we sell.

splendid scenery of the nation is by no means limited to these public areas. But the national parks are for the time upmost in mind because we have before us a copy of the report issued by the department of the interior and entitled "Glimpses of Our National Parks." The information therein contained is concise and easily read by anyone with an hour or so to spare. There are 14 of these national parks, of which eight are called of the first order of size and scenic magnificence. All the parks are located in the far West or the Middle West, California and Colorado being the most favored states. Each of the eight parks, we are informed, has an individuality of its own, being different from all the others. Therefore, were a sight-seer planning to visit all of the eight in one season he would not be bored by repetition of scenes but would find something entirely changed as he went from one to another of the parks. For instance, he would find at Mount Ranier in the state of Washington an extinct volcano down the sides of which flow 28 glaciers; he would find in the Yosemite park, besides the famous valley of that name and its lofty waterfalls a river which sports wheels of water 50 or more feet in the air; he would find in the Sequoia park in California thousands of great sequoia trees more than 10 feet in diameter and some of them measuring 36 feet through from side to side; he would find in the Yellowstone park in Wyoming strange geysers and a gorgeous canyon. And so on through the list. Each has its speciality in addition to the more common beauties of nature. One need not go to Europe or to Asia (when the war ends) in order to relieve one's jaded mind; the same thing can be accomplished right in the United States, where it is earned and where it belongs in large measure. There is something to think about in the document just published by the department of the interior.

NORMAL TEMPERATURE DUE.

Weather Bureau's Forecast for the Coming Week.

Washington, March 20.—The weather bureau Saturday at Washington made this forecast of weather for the coming week:

"The pressure distribution is such as to indicate that the coming week will be marked by a general reaction to normal temperature after the Mississippi valley and all districts west thereof temperatures above the seasonal average may be expected.

"The next disturbance to cross the country will form west of the Rocky mountains, pass to the plains states and the great central valleys to-day or Tuesday, and the eastern states about Wednesday.

"This disturbance will be preceded by a general rise in temperature and will be attended by snow in northern and local rains and probably thunderstorms in southern states east of the Rocky mountains.

"With the exception of the short period of unsettled weather attending this disturbance and local snows at the beginning of the week in the region of the Great Lakes and the north Atlantic states, the week will be one of generally fair weather.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

As to License Commissioners.

Editor, Barre Times: Some of the ministers of our city have been very busy the past few days in circulating a petition, trying to use their influence to get certain individuals appointed as license commissioners. Believing that the clergymen were opposed to license, it is up to them to leave this matter in the hands of those who know better how to handle the situation, knowing that if the granting of licenses is left in the hands of those whom the ministers can dictate to, our license law will be made just as obnoxious as it is possible to make it.

We do not want a repetition of eight years ago, when the licenses were all or nearly all in one section of the city. The majority of our citizens voted in favor of license. The clergymen, I believe, voted with the minority. Therefore, let the majority rule.

And, in the meantime, the clergymen could use their time to better advantage by looking after the spiritual welfare of their flocks.

A believer in fair play.
